

Who Threw a Cake at the Monalisa?

Last Saturday, someone threw a cake at the Monalisa in the Botero Museum in Bogota, Colombia. There were four eyewitnesses. What did they say? Read the following, and find the criminal.

Ann Jones, a visitor

I was looking at the Monalisa, and someone threw a cake at the painting. I turned around and saw an old man. He was standing in front of a wheelchair. I'm about 170 cm tall, and he was a little taller than me.

Carlos Diaz, a janitor

An old man with gray hair was running away, and something fell off his head. It was his wig. I ran after him, but I couldn't catch him. He was faster than me. In fact, the old man was not old. He was a young man with long brown hair.

Diego Perez, a guard

I went to the crime scene, and there were pieces of cake all over the painting. There was also a wheelchair near the painting, and I found a cake box next to the wheelchair. The box was from Camila's Bakery.

Camila Santos, the owner of Camila's Bakery

Last Friday, a young man came in. I spoke to him in Spanish, but he didn't understand me. He spoke only English. We had a lot of different cakes, but he just wanted the smallest one. We sold only one cake that day, so I remember him clearly. Oh, he had blue eyes.

Now, look at the information about the suspects.
