A Journey to Find My Dream

Some of you have a dream job in mind, but others do not. It is not easy for you to find a future job. But we all need to answer the question, "What do you want to be in the future?" Think about the following questions, and you will find a path to your future job.

Why Do We Work?

First, we work to make money. Our jobs help us get paid so we can make a living. Second, we work to take on social roles. For example, street cleaners keep our towns and cities clean, and police officers make our society safe. We rely on others to do these important jobs, and everyone has a special role to play. Third, we work to feel proud of our work. By working, we can help others and show our abilities. In the end, we work to find meaning in life.

How Can I Find My Job?

Everyone has their own favorite activities. Try to connect them to a real job, and you will find your path. If you like watching TV shows, you can be a producer or a writer for those shows.

However, liking something and being good at it are not the same. Playing soccer as a job is different from playing it as a hobby. You love soccer but aren't good at it. Then you can look for other jobs in soccer. If you are good at taking care of people, you can become a soccer player's manager. Or you can work as a marketer for a soccer team if you are good at thinking creatively. Look for jobs that match your favorite things and your abilities.

What Do I Have to Do Now?

First, focus on your school subjects now. They give you the basic skills for your future. These skills help you make good choices. Second, gather information about jobs that interest you. You can watch videos and movies, or read books about them. This way, you can learn about real work in those jobs. Finally, keep trying new things! Your interests can change often. It is very important for you to experience different activities.

Our world keeps changing, and jobs will also change. Keep exploring, and you'll find your dream job soon.
