Topic 1 Listen & Talk

A Listen and Check

1

G Look, here are pictures of two interesting places in the US.

B They look nice. If you go to the US, which of these places would you like to visit?

G I'd like to visit this place to see the famous statue and take pictures of the city.

B That sounds fun!

G I agree! I hope I can go there one day.

2

G What are you looking at?

B I'm looking at pictures of Japan. I'm going to go there with my family.

G That's great. What do you want to see there?

B We want to see traditional places like the one in this picture. We're planning to stay in a traditional house, too.

G That sounds amazing! I hope I can go there someday.

3

B What are you doing?

G I'm planning my trip to France.

B That sounds exciting! What would you like to do there?

G I'd like to stay at a place by the ocean and spend some time at the beach.

B Wow, the water looks bright blue in this picture.

G Yes. It looks really beautiful.

B I hope you have a nice trip!

C Listen Up

G Dad, let's plan our trip to Australia!

M Okay, Yumi. Where would you like to go?

G I'd like to visit the Sydney Opera House.

M Then how about taking a tour of the Sydney Opera House on the first day? We can learn about the history of the building.

G That sounds perfect! I'd like to watch a live performance, too.

M Of course! We can buy tickets to an opera or a classical music concert.

G I want to see an opera.

M Okay. I'll look for tickets to an opera.

G Thank you, Dad. I hope we have a great time.

Topic 2 Real-Life Communication

W We're finally here, the lantern festival in Thailand!

B There are already a lot of people here.

W Yes. I'm excited to see the bright lanterns in the sky.

B Me too! But why do people fly lanterns?

W People send away bad luck with the lanterns and make wishes.

B That's interesting!

W Yes. I bought a lantern for us, too. Let's make a wish!

B Okay. I'd like to wish for our family's happiness.

W That's a wonderful wish. Are you ready to fly our lantern? 3, 2, 1, go!

B Wow, it's beautiful. I really hope our wish comes true.

Lesson Review

B This place in the magazine looks cool. It says it's a green tea field.

G Yeah. That's in Boseong. It is famous for green tea. I went there last May.

B Oh, really? How was it?

G It was amazing. I went to the Green Tea Festival there! It is held every year.

B What can I do at the festival?

G You can pick green tea leaves and taste green tea.

B That sounds fun! I'd like to go there, too.

G I hope you can go there someday!

Let's Travel!Monday 1 August

After a nine-hour flight, my family finally arrived at the international airport in Honolulu. When we came through the gate, I heard someone calling my name. My cousin Soobin and her family were waiting for us. When we saw each other, we hugged and jumped together in a circle. Then Soobin put a pretty flower necklace around my neck. She called it a lei and said that "lei" means "warm welcome."

We visited Diamond Head first. It is a famous hiking place. My uncle told us how it got its name. In the past, people mistook its shiny rocks for diamonds. So, they named the place Diamond Head. How interesting! The view from the top was amazing. Soobin and I took many pictures there!

Tuesday 2 August

Today we went to a culture center. We learned about traditional Hawaiian culture there.

First, we learned what some Hawaiian words mean. "Aloha" is used to say "hello" or "goodbye," and "mahalo" means "thank you."

Then it was hula dance time! Surprisingly, many of the movements stood for things in nature. For example, if you raise your arms above your head in a circle, it stands for the moon. When I danced hula, I could feel the Hawaiian people's love for nature.

On the way back to Soobin's house, we saw a big, beautiful rainbow. Soobin explained, "You can often see rainbows in Hawaii. So, Hawaii is called the Rainbow State."

Wednesday 3 August

Today, we headed to Hanauma Bay to go snorkeling. Before snorkeling, we watched an educational video. We learned not to harm the sea animals or touch the coral.

The underwater world was wonderful. We saw lots of colorful fish and a turtle swimming there. It was amazing!

It is already the last day of our trip. I'm sad to go home, but I will always remember Hawaii. Aloha, Soobin! Mahalo, Hawaii!
