Listen A

1

G Juwon, what are you watching?

B I'm watching a video clip about the wonders of the world.

G Oh, what kind of wonders are you curious about?

B I'm really curious about the pyramids.

2

B Have you ever read this detective novel?

G No, I haven't. Is it interesting?

B Yeah. Actually, I'm really curious about the thief, now. It's hard to guess.

G I hope you find out soon.

3

G Hey, Ian. What are you doing?

B I am working on a math puzzle.

G Oh, can I join you? I love math puzzles.

B Sure. Actually, I'm curious about the answer to this puzzle.

G Okay, let's try to solve it together.

Listen B

W Do you know how we can strengthen our imagination? Here are some easy tips. First, read many different kinds of books. Reading shows us new places, people, and ideas. Second, go outside and explore nature. Nature is full of amazing things. Lastly, create your own stories. Make your own worlds and characters. These small actions will help your imagination grow!

Watch

B Hey, Seohyun. What are you reading?

G I'm reading a riddle book called Riddles Around the World.

B Sounds interesting. You know I love riddles.

G Right. Actually, I'm trying to find out the answer to this riddle, but I'm stuck.

B Oh, what is it? I'm curious about that riddle.

G Here it is: "It has rivers but no water. It has forests but no trees. And it has cities but no buildings." Do you know what it is?

B Give me a second. Is it a map?

Wrap Up

B Hey, Claire. Do you know what this book is about?

G No, I don't. I'm curious about it.

B It's about a man. His diamond was stolen.

G Have you found out who the thief is?

B Not yet, but I think I know who the thief is.

The Mystery of the Empty Safe

A rich old lady named Frigga lived in a big castle.

She kept her giant diamond in a safe. One day, she called me and said, "Lily Holmes, my diamond is missing! Please come and solve this mystery. You're the best detective in town!" I ran to her house.

When I arrived, Frigga showed me her room. I quickly found some clues and made a note. The clues were a broken red fake nail, the smell of men's soap in the air, and dirty footprints on her desk.

"When did you find out the diamond was missing?" I asked.

"This afternoon," Frigga said. "I checked my safe in the morning and hid the key under the table. Then, I saw my maid come into my room to clean. When I came back in the afternoon, I heard footsteps in my room. I ran to the door and saw the thief escaping through the open window. I couldn't see the face.

Then, I found that my safe was open, and my diamond was gone! I was so surprised that I screamed."

"Do you know who else was in the house at the time?"

"Many people live in this castle. They will be here soon."

Amy, the maid, wore slippers and had red nails like Frigga's.

"I cleaned Frigga's room in the morning. After I finished, I closed the windows and saw the gardener working outside. It was 11 a.m. Then, I did laundry in the basement all afternoon."

Next, I spoke with Jessica, Frigga's assistant. She was wearing red high heels.

"I manage her schedule, mail, and bills. All day long, I was checking bills in the living room."

"Do you know where Amy was this afternoon?" I asked.

"I saw Amy go to the basement with the laundry, and she didn't come back all afternoon. Also, I didn't see anyone go into or come out of Frigga's room before Frigga returned."

John, Frigga's cousin, moved into her house last year after he lost his job and home. He was wearing men's shoes.

"I read books in my room all afternoon. But, I kept going back and forth to the bathroom because I wash my hands with soap every hour. Each time, I saw Jessica working in the living room. When I heard Frigga scream, I ran to her room. I found the window open and saw Frigga looking afraid."

The last person was Nick, the gardener. He was wearing sneakers.

"I started working in the garden this afternoon. As I shaped the trees near Frigga's closed windows, I saw a stranger leaving her room. I couldn't see the face. It was strange, but I didn't think much of it because there are many people in this castle."

With the clues, I found that one person was lying! I gathered everyone in the living room and said, "The thief is you!"
