Listen & Speak

B

1

B: Look at this poster, Jenny! Have you ever been to this local festival before?

G: Yes, I have. I watched a magic show. It was great.

B: That sounds fun. How about going to the festival together this year?

G: I'd love to.

2

B: Nora, have you ever ridden a Ferris wheel?

G: Yes, I have. The view from the top was amazing.

B: I've never ridden a Ferris wheel. Wasn't it scary?

G: Not at all. You should try it.

C

1

G: Hi, Jay! I'm so excited for the music festival tomorrow.

B: Me, too! I can't believe we were able to get tickets.

G: We were very lucky. By the way, what's the weather like tomorrow?

B: The app says it will be cloudy but not rainy.

Perfect weather for a festival!

2

G: How was your trip to Jeju, Minjun? Did you hike Hallasan?

B: No, I visited some museums instead because of the weather.

G: How was the weather? Was it rainy?

B: No, it wasn't, but the wind was too strong.

D

B: Look! There will be a St. Patrick's Day parade in town this Saturday. Have you been to the parade before?

G: Oh, yes. I went to the parade last year, and it was amazing.

B: Did you do something special at the parade?

G: I just watched the parade last year. This year I'm going to wear a green costume, paint my face green, and walk in the parade.

B: That sounds fun! I think I should go, too.

G: That's nice! By the way, what's the weather like this Saturday? Do you know?

B: It'll be rainy in the morning but sunny in the afternoon.

G: Great! We won't have any problem then.

Project: From a Viewer

On April 26, join us at the Hung Temple for the Hung Kings Festival! This special festival celebrates the Hung Kings, the first kings of Vietnam. At this festival you can wear traditional clothes and join the colorful parade. You can also enjoy Vietnamese music and dance shows. Oh, don't forget to try traditional cakes on this special day! Come visit our festival!

Progress Check

5

B: Look at this poster, Sandy! Have you watched this movie?

G: Yes, I have. It was so much fun. How about you, Jake?

B: No, I haven't, but I want to watch it.

G: Then, why don't we see it together this weekend? I'd love to watch it again.

B: Great!

6-7

B: Hello, Emma? How was your trip to Yeosu?

G: Hi, Minjun. It was great. I enjoyed delicious seafood.

B: Good for you!

G: By the way, how was your camping trip? Did you observe stars?

B: No, I stayed in the tent because of the bad weather.

G: How was the weather?

Festivals for Our Animal Friends

Some animals have been our friends for thousands of years. They have helped and protected us. To celebrate these animal friends, people in Ireland and Nepal hold special festivals every year. These festivals show a strong bond between humans and animals.

Wild Goat Festival in Ireland

Every year from August 10 to 12, people in Killorglin hold a festival to celebrate wild goats. There is one story about the festival's beginning. When the English army was attacking Ireland in the 17th century, they came across a group of wild goats in a field. Most of the goats ran away to the mountains, but one goat ran toward the village. When the villagers saw the tired and scared goat, they realized that danger was coming. Thanks to the goat, the villagers were able to prepare and protect themselves.

Since then, people in Killorglin have celebrated wild goats with this festival. At the festival, people crown a goat to show thanks to it. They also give it a lot of food and take good care of it. People then parade, dance, and sing.

Dog Festival in Nepal

People say, "Every dog has its day." In Nepal, this saying is literally true. Dogs have been an important part of Nepalese culture for hundreds of years. The Nepalese believe that dogs are helpers of the god of death and guide souls to heaven. Because of this belief, Nepal has a special day to celebrate dogs. This dog festival usually takes place in October or November. On this day, people give dogs flower necklaces and delicious food. They also put a red mark on dogs' foreheads to wish them good luck. They even bow to dogs to show them love and thanks.
