Hi, I'm Bella. Last Friday, I saw my brother playing basketball after school. He was playing really well, so I took a picture of him. Then I shared it on my social media. Over the weekend, something went wrong. Someone made a copy of the picture with bad comments. The copy was spread here and there, and I was so embarrassed. My brother wanted me to delete the picture of him. I apologized to him, and I deleted my post immediately. However, the copies still remain online. I want to remove them all. Please help me.

I just heard my phone ringing again. It makes me very upset. I'm sure that someone is using my information in a bad way. I think that my personal information was shared. I want to delete it.
