

Lesson 7 The Beauty of Buildings

Communicative Function

- 외양 묘사하기

A: What does it look like?

B: It's a red building with a green roof.

- 추가 정보 요청하기

A: Can you tell me more about the hotel?

B: It was designed for viewing the Northern Lights.

Grammar

- 접속사 while

While many of them are destroyed, some change into something new.

- not only ~ but also ...

Not only skaters but also art lovers enjoy this skate park.

Listen & Speak

B

1

W: Excuse me, I'm looking for City Hall.

M: City Hall? It's not far from here. Go straight and turn right at the corner. You'll find it easily.

W: What does it look like?

M: It's a red building with a green roof.

W: Thanks!

2

G: Last weekend, I went to the new library that just opened in town. The design of the building is really unique.

B: Is it? What does it look like?

G: It looks like a big wave and has many balconies.

B: Wow, I think I should go, too.

C

1

G: Jake, this café is amazing.

B: You know what? This building was once an old factory.

G: Really? Can you tell me more about it?

B: The owner kept the old structure and painted it in pretty colors.

G: I think the structure makes the café special.

2

G: Have you heard a new mall is going to open in town next year?

B: No, I haven't. Can you tell me more about it?

G: They are going to tear down an old school and build a mall instead.

B: You mean the old school near the park?

G: That's right.

D

B: Mom, I just found a great hotel for our trip to Finland.

W: Oh, really? What's so great about it?

B: The hotel rooms are designed in a really unique way!

W: What do they look like?

B: They look like big glass domes.

W: Wow, that sounds cool! Can you tell me more about the hotel?

B: It was designed for viewing the Northern Lights. We can see them right from our room if we're lucky.

W: Amazing! Let's book a room there.

Project: From a Viewer

Hello, everyone. Welcome to the High Line in New York City. As you can see, this is a park with beautiful gardens. However, this place was used as a train track in the past. Isn't it amazing? Every year, not only New Yorkers but also visitors from all around the world come here to enjoy this unique park.

Progress Check

3

M: Kate, you look sad. What's wrong?

G: Oh, Mr. Kim. I lost my phone. I thought I had it in my bag, but I can't find it.

M: What does it look like?

G: It's in a yellow case with a cat on it.

M: Okay. Let me help you find it.

4-5

B: How was your weekend trip, Soyul?

G: It was great! I saw a unique house that a famous artist designed.

B: A unique house? What does it look like?

G: It looks like a big shoe and has blue walls.

B: Wow, that sounds amazing! Can you tell me more about it?

7과 Read

A Second Life for Old Buildings

What happens to buildings when they become too old? While many of them are destroyed, some get a second chance and change into something new. These new buildings show a wonderful harmony between the past and the present.

Orsay Museum, Paris, France

Orsay Museum is famous for many paintings by artists such as Van Gogh and Monet. When visitors enter the museum, they are first impressed by the beautiful building itself. This building was originally built as a train station in 1900, but its life as a train station was short. Years later, in 1970, the city tried to tear it down. Luckily, it was saved and found a new life as a museum. Its rounded roof and large clock still show traces of the old train station.

El Ateneo Bookstore, Buenos Aires, Argentina

El Ateneo is one of the most beautiful bookstores in the world. The building opened as a theater in 1919 and many performances were held there at that time. Now, the seats are gone, and books fill the space instead. However, the bookstore still has the stage and balconies of the old theater. Visitors can not only read books but also enjoy coffee on the stage.

Kaos Temple, Llanera, Spain

Anyone who sees this skate park can tell its past easily. The building was originally used as a church, but it was empty for many years. In 2015, a group of people started a project to renew it. They kept the structure of the building and painted the walls and ceiling with colorful pictures. The result was amazing. Now, not only skaters but also art lovers enjoy this unique skate park.